Gentlemen: The Google Drive has a new folder named TWE.

After I complete this message, I will provide access to that folder for you all, so expect an email.

Based on our discussion on the 7/16 telecom, I almost fully emulated the designed structure of the new web site - using the "1.1.1.1" numbering system (cannot think of what that is named??).

Additionally, I added a lot of the documents that are in my possession OR moved those that Ev had placed under the AC119 folder.

You will see that for whatever reason (probably the design of the Google Drive, the numbering system does not follow numerically after .9 - PLEASE look at Reunion Information, past reunions, by years.

Please look at the TWE folder and ADD documents that you have.

Let me know suggestions. Mike

I need to track how much space (Gigabytes) we have left....after the free amount, it may cost a few bucks to increase the size of the "drive".

Also, we may have to "organize" the data files added to the drive to make finding items easier.

Off to a great start! Mike

Therefore, a moment ago, I added you SIX (on this message), to the sharing of "AC-119" folder on my google cloud drive. I am hopeful that with YOUR email address & the "Stinger01" password, you will gain access to the folder we use. See what happens - this is uncharted territory for me.
